

Riverside Area Inclusion Network

(R.A.I.N.)

Invites you to an Evening of Information.

What: Sensory Processing Disorder, practical applications for parents and caregivers.

Presented by Christy Walloc, Doctor of Occupational Therapy, Associate Professor, and Program Specialist at Rush University Medical Center.

When: Wednesday, April 27th at 7 pm. Cost: Free

Where: Riverside Library, Meeting Room.

Who: Parents/Caretakers, any person interested in Sensory Processing disorder and treatment options. Christy will discuss ways parents/caretakers can help their children at home and in School. She will discuss some of the latest treatment options and practical applications for home.

The talk will last around 45 minutes. There will be a question and answer session following the talk. We will have time to update the audience on the latest information from our R.A.I.N. committee. We will not have child care at this meeting, but are looking into it for future events.
